Maize and sunflowers are staples in this area. Each year the land around our warehouse in Dorohoi yields crops which are shared with needy people.

The Romanian Aid Foundation and Asociația Neemia Harvest Appeal

For most of us in the industrialised West, 'Harvest' conjures up the stereotypical view of combine harvesters and sheaves of corn. Or perhaps you recall the harvest thanksgivings of years gone by, with their collection of cereals, fruit and vegetables arranged in all their glory. However, for many people in the rural area around Dorohoi the reality is rather different. Harvest is the process by which food gets out of the ground and into their homes, and it involves a lot of hard work to ensure that they have adequate food for the coming winter. Perhaps even worse is the plight of those who have no land and no work. No work means no income which in turns leaves them without the ability to pay for essentials such as food, heating and accommodation.

RoAF is asking you to revive the spirit of harvest thanksgiving, and offers a practical output for your gifts. On a typical day, approximately 30 people come to our office in Dorohoi, seeking help with their problems. Many are hungry or unable to feed their children so AN keeps stocks of basic foodstuffs to help. But those stocks need replenishing and the harvest season is a good time to help. Here is an opportunity to donate those extra '2 for 1' or '3 for 2' items (that didn't cost you anything!) or perhaps prepare a mixed box of goodies that can be donated to a family in need. It will make you feel good too.

Further information is available from Graham Howard (07515 284797) or via our website.

The Anton family receives a harvest box prepared by a Church in south Wales.
